THE QUESTION OF THE MANDATES.

Negotiations with the U.S.

(Reuter's Service.)

Geneva, September 23.

M. Bourgeois assured the Assembly that the Council of the League of Nations would pursue its efforts to hasten negotiations between the Powers and the United States in regard to the terms of the Mandates. He pointed out that the mandated territories had already been administered in accordance with the spirit of the Covenant. Sir James Allen (New Zealand) pressed for a prompt settlement of the terms of the Mandates, and declared that military occupation was not altogether satisfactory. He also declared that the terms of the Mandates in regard to the liquor traffic would only be possible with the removal of discrimination between whites and natives. The Assembly unanimously adopted the report of the Mandates Committee.

Initial Meeting of Permanent Mandates Commission.

The Permanent Mandates Commission to advise the Council of the League on all matters relating to observance of the Mandates will meet for the first time at Geneva on October 4. The Commission consists of nine experts on Colonial questions, mostly nationals of Non-Mandatory States, including Senhor Dandrade, ex-Foreign Minister of Portugal, M. Beau, ex-Governor of French Indo-China, Mr. Ormsby Gore, J. K. Van Rens, ex-Vice-President of the Council of the Dutch Indies, and Mr. Yanagida (Japan). It is expected that the Commission will examine reports of the recent administration of mandatory areas, which have been communicated by Britain for Mesopotamia, Palestine, and Tanganyika, by France for Togoland and the Cameroons, and by South Africa for ex-German South West Africa.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM.

Mr. Churchill's Outline of Government Assistance.

London, September 23.

Mr. Churchill, replying to a deputation at Dundee with regard to unemployment, said that since the Armistice the Government had spent £105,000,000 in relief. This was unparalleled anywhere in the world. America was now in an infinitely worse position in regard to unemployment than Britain. The demand for national rather than local relief would increase the already heavy taxation, and thus aggravate unemployment. The Government would take a final decision next week. He had every reason to believe that the Government would decide that special assistance must be given in areas where unemployment was exceptionally acute. He was hopeful that the problem would be satisfactorily solved.

INTERNATIONAL TEXTILE WORKERS' CONGRESS.

8-Hour Day and 44-Hour Week.

London, September 23.

The International Congress of textile workers at Paris unanimously passed a resolution declaring that the affiliated societies should immediately combine to obtain a forty-four hour week, and inviting the secretaries of the different national societies to enter into relations with the Amsterdam federation of trade unions to secure the application of an eight-hour day, with a free Saturday afternoon, in all countries, in order to abolish the present unfair competition.

RUBBER-PAVING IN LONDON.

Question of Cost.

London, September 23.

Experiments in Southwark in the use of rubber for road surfaces have hitherto been satisfactory, but it will be some time before sufficient information in regard to the practicability of rubber roads is available to enable the question to be decided. The great drawback at present is the cost, which is about £4 per yard, mainly owing to the difficulty of attaching the rubber to the road, but it is hoped that means of considerably reducing the cost will be found.

U.S. SENATE APPROVES PEACE TREATIES.

Subject to a Reservation.

Washington, September 23.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has ordered a favourable report upon the German, Austrian, and Hungarian peace treaties, with a reservation requiring Congress to pass an Act to the effect that the appointment of American representatives on Allied commissions must have the sanction of the Senate.

RELIEF OF CONGESTION DURING PACIFIC CONFERENCE.

Japan Proposes to U.S. Reopening of Yap-Guam Cable.

Washington, September 24.

Baron Shidehara (the Japanese Ambassador) proposed to the State Department the reopening of the Yap-Guam cable to relieve congestion during the Pacific Conference.

DISARMAMENT DEMONSTRATION.

Mr. Gompers' Suggestion for Armistice Day.

Washington, September 23.

Mr. Gompers has cabled British, French, Italian, and Japanese labour organisations suggesting a world-wide disarmament demonstration on November 11.

U.S. WAR FINANCE CORPORATION'S ADVANCE.

To Aid Marketing of Grain Crop.

Washington, September 23.

The War Finance Corporation has advanced $15,000,000 to the co-operative grain-growers of Minnesota to aid in marketing the 1921 crops.

FAMOUS FRENCH AVIATOR KILLED.

De Romanet's Machine Crashes During Practice.

Evreux, September 23.

The famous French aviator de Romanet was killed here. His machine crashed while he was practising for the Aviation Cup Contest.

JEWEL THEFT ON FRENCH TRAIN.

Paris, September 23.

A message from Nice states that jewels valued at fr.40,000 were stolen from a lady passenger in a train between Annecy and Gap.

INCREASE IN AMERICAN TIN PRICES.

Pittsburg, September 23.

The American Sheet and Tinplate Company announces that the price of its principal products has been increased $5 per ton.

RECONSTRUCTION OF THE DEVASTATED AREA.

French and German Companies to be Formed.

(Reuter's Service.)

Berlin, September 23.

In connection with the result of the recent negotiations at Wiesbaden between M. Loucheur and Dr. Rathenau in regard to reconstruction of the North of France, Forverts learns that a company is to be formed in Germany and one in France. The German Government will place seven milliard marks at the disposal of the companies, which will be credited to Germany on reparations account. The French company will collect orders and hand them over to Germany.

ULTIMATUM TO HUNGARY.

Demand for the Evacuation of Burgenland.

Paris, September 23.

The Conference of Ambassadors has presented to the Hungarian Minister at Paris a Note calling upon Hungary to evacuate the whole of Burgenland in a short time, otherwise the Allies will be compelled to resort to coercive measures. The Hungarians recently occupied Burgenland, which was handed over to Austria under the Peace Treaty.

MEDICAL TESTIMONY IN ARBUCKLE CASE.

Press Excluded.

San Francisco, September 23.

When Arbuckle appeared at the police-court, the surgeons who performed the post-mortem testified to the nature of Miss Rappe's injuries. Journalists were excluded from the court, as the proceedings were mostly devoted to women's cases. Most of the spectators were women.

DEATH OF COMMODORE SUENSON.

Supervisor of Cable-Laying to the Far East.

Copenhagen, September 23.

The death is announced of Commodore Suenon, ex-Manager of the Great Northern Telegraph Company, who supervised the laying of cables to the Far East.

FIRE DESTROYS CHURCH CONTAINING VAN TROMP'S TOMB.

Delft, September 23.

A fire destroyed the interior of the thirteenth-century Oude Kerk containing the tombs of Admiral Van Tromp and of Piethem.

EARLIER TELEGRAMS.

NEW YORK MAYOR PEEVED.

London, Sept. 23.

Mayor Hylan of New York has followed the Mayor of Chicago in falling foul of their respective local newspapers. The former is annoyed at press criticisms of the action of the New York police in suppressing demonstrations of unemployed. He has issued a proclamation exhorting advertisers to withdraw orders from persistent critics. Morgan's newspapers publish the proclamation parallel with statistics showing that there have been 333 unsolved murders in New York City since Hylan appointed commissioner Enright, mentioned on Sept. 21, in January 1918.

MANDATED TERRITORIES.

Geneva, Sept. 23.

The Assembly of the League considered the report of the Mandates Committee which was presented by Dr. Nansen. Lord Robert Cecil in an important speech supported the committee's resolution, already published. He said he would have preferred more precise terms with regard to slavery and the liquor traffic (cheers), but a great step forward had been taken. He recalled that Mr. Smuts when he first recommended the system of mandates which was a milestone on the road of peace, said there was no intention of shutting off the mandated territories from intercourse with all nations within the League. This last remark evoked a warm "hear hear" from the Haastri delegates who loudly cheered the speech.

NEW BAVARIAN CABINET.

Berlin, Sept. 23.

The new Bavarian Cabinet formed by the Premier, Count Lerchenfeld, includes all the members of the Kahr Government except the Minister of Justice, Doctor Roth of the German National Party, whose portfolio Lerchenfeld has taken. Lerchenfeld in a speech in the Bavarian Diet said he stood for absolute fidelity to the Empire. He announced that negotiations with the Imperial Chancellor with regard to raising the state of siege in Bavaria would shortly be resumed.

THE OPPAU EXPLOSION.

Paris, Sept. 22.

According to French press reports the number of victims in the Oppau explosion is nearing eight hundred dead and two thousand injured.

Foreign and also German reports lay stress on the promptitude of the French occupation troops to start rescue work. Medical stores and engineers material were promptly on the spot and bread and soup were supplied to the population of the shattered villages of the neighborhood. The French High Commissioner gave 70,000 marks to the victims of families.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Paris, Sept. 22.

Geneva: The Council of the League of Nations has decided to submit the Albanian problem to the Council of Ambassadors. The Powers are to be appealed to intervene in the Albanian conflict.

GENERAL PERSHING IN PARIS.

Paris, Sept. 22.

The American Generalissimo Pershing arrived to-day. The great American placed the Congress's medal on the grave of an unidentified French soldier.

Speaking before the Montauban General Council, M. Marand, Minister of the Interior, reasserted that France's political motto is "peace and security." France has no other ambition.

SECOND LADY M.P.

London, Sept. 23.

The second Lady M.P. was elected to-day as the result of a by-election at Louth. Mrs. Wintringham, widow of the late member for Louth, standing as an Independent Liberal, was returned, polling 8,286 votes; Sir A. Hutchings, Conservative, 7,595; Lieutenant J. L. George, Labour, 3,878.

CHINESE NEWS.

Severe Fighting In Kwangsi.

Our Canton correspondent reports that Lungchow has not been captured, as was stated in a rumour a couple of days ago. The fighting has become very severe, both sides having suffered heavy losses. Chan King-ming has transferred two more regiments to that front.

Peking telegrams to hand state that although the Premier's resignation has not been accepted, he did not attend the Cabinet meeting on the 22nd, the chair being taken by the Minister for Foreign Affairs.

In reply to a telegram from Wu Pui-foo the State Department has stated that the Government will continue to supply money and munitions.

It is reported that the Ministry for Foreign Affairs has received a long telegram from the minister in Washington in regard to the agenda for the Pacific conference.

A Shanghai telegram states that Wu Pui-foo has transferred most of his troops to Shansi against the Szechuen troops, there is a possibility that Hunan troops will again attack Yuchow, despite the truce.

LAWN BOWLS.

Win For "Big Four."

An interesting friendly game took place at the Kowloon Bowling Green Club yesterday afternoon when the Shanghai Inter-club players met Hongkong's "Big Four"—the first four players to journey from Hongkong to Shanghai two years ago. The game was keen throughout, though the Hongkong men took no fewer than five points at the first end and maintained the lead. At the 17th end Hongkong led by the big margin of 25 points to 14, but in the last four Shanghai compiled six, thus making the final score 20-26.

The teams and scores were:

GERMAN DIPLOMAT HERE.

Will be Stationed at Peking.

Herr Behrend, of the German Diplomatic Service, arrived at Hongkong to-day on the Japanese steamer Matsuyama on his way to Peking to assume the duties of Secretary of the German Legation, which was recently re-opened there after the war. Herr Behrend joined the steamer at London and will disembark at Shanghai, proceeding overland to the northern capital by train.

UNHAPPY TRIP.

A Coolie Boat's Experience.

The voyage of the Chinese steamer "New China," which recently left Hongkong with a draft of 400 coolies has not been the happy venture hoped for. Due to touch at Mexico and eventually to reach South America, the New China, according to a statement made to a reporter of the Telegraph by a local South American Consul, is at present laid up in a Mexican port, being prevented by the embargo against incoming labourers from landing her passengers or proceeding on her voyage.

The circumstances under which the New China left on her trip across the Pacific may be worthy of recapitulation here. To obviate the difficulty in connection with obtaining permits from the Secretary for Chinese Affairs and also to avoid the alleged opposition of the Consuls at this port, it was stated, the New China, which is the first vessel acquired by the Spain and China Navigation Company for the coolie traffic to South America, was taken from Hongkong to Canton where she took aboard her coolie passengers.

The only regulation requiring obedience at Canton was the securing of clearance papers from the Canton Government. This regulation having been complied with, the New China left on her voyage.

From enquiries made with the manager of the Spain and China Navigation Company at this port, a different story than that outlined above was heard. It was stated by him that the New China has landed half of her passengers at Mexico and is now on her way to Havana with the remainder before proceeding to Peru and the other South American countries.

Asked how this could be possible seeing that the passengers' papers were not raised by the representatives of the countries concerned either at this port or in Canton, the official said that there was no need to have this done, as permits had already been issued by the South American countries concerned to the planters to whom this batch of labourers were indentured.

The movements of the New China, however, still remain a matter for conjecture as the official admitted that the information he received have not thrown very clear light on the situation.

The scarcity of work in the South American countries is reflected in the letters received here by relatives of the emigrants, warning them not to imitate their example and pursue an El Dorado which has now proved to be chimerical. Emigration to South America has stopped since the news of the actual labour situation and the restrictions set against immigration into South America was received. Under these circumstances the New China, it is stated, will be taken off her present run on her return to the Far East and put into a more profitable business.

SINGAPORE TRADE.

Singapore, Sept. 23.

There are reports of an active market. Advancing values in New York have influenced a firmer tendency. The rubber auction show a sharp advance in prices and a strong demand for all grades. Sheet sold readily at 20 $\frac{1}{2}$. A Shareholders Association has been formed in London representing large interests.

INTERPORT SWIMMING.

Trials at V.R.C. Bath.

Further trials in connection with the forthcoming Interport Swimming were held at the V.R.C. bath last night. Most of the competitors showed quite good form and the events were entered into with great enthusiasm. As on the previous evening, there were quite a number of spectators, who took a keen interest throughout.

Some good times were put up in the team race trials, competitors covering the distance of two lengths (50 yards) in 27 $\frac{3}{5}$ to 30 seconds. It is interesting to note that the best time for the open International 50 yards free style at the Shanghai Olympia was 25 $\frac{4}{5}$. The world's record is held by a Hawaiian, whose time is 23 seconds.

There were a number of interesting competitors in the throwing the polo ball event. M. Railton put in a number of very good throws, showing great consistency. His best effort was one which reached the opposite end of the bath from which he was throwing, but this shot was eclipsed by one by Buschert which landed in the stand, well out of the bath.

Jack did a trial 100 yards, but he overdid it a bit in the first two lengths, and his time would probably have been better if he had reserved his strength a little more, at the start. R. C. Wittich tried 100 yards backstroke, putting up a time of 84 seconds. The world's record for this event is held by an American, who accomplished the distance in 1 min. 8 $\frac{1}{5}$ sec. The record time for the Far East is 1 min. 19 $\frac{3}{5}$ which was put up by a Japanese at the recent Shanghai Olympia.

THE BIG FIGHT FILM.

Tex Rickard, the boxing promoter, and Frederick C. Quimby, motion picture exhibitor, pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Sheppard to charges of violating the Interstate Commerce Law through the transportation across the State line from New Jersey of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight pictures, and were fined $1,000 each. In announcing the sentence, Judge Sheppard criticized the law, which he said, was enacted in 1912 to meet a peculiar situation. "While it is probably constitutional," he said, "it looks to me like an unnecessary interference by Congress with the police regulations of the States which allow such encounters. From the case of the audience that attended the exhibition at Jersey City it was a gathering of people of refined tastes."

There was a large attendance of members at the annual meeting of the Hongkong St. Andrew's Society held in the Chamber of Commerce

the absence of the President, Mr.
A. O. Lang conducted the proceedings. He was supported by Messrs. R. M. Dyer, K. E. Greig,

Report and Accounts.

The Hon. Secretary having read the notice convening the meeting, the Chairman proposed the adoption of the Report and Accounts.
He said: Gentlemen.—The Report and Accounts having been in your hands for some days I will, with your permission, follow the usual procedure and take them as read.
There is nothing in the accounts requiring more than passing comment, and I think we can congratulate ourselves on the satisfactory financial position of the Society. Subscriptions for the period under review show a falling off as compared with the previous twelve months, and this is accounted for by a large number of members having been on Home leave last year. On the expenditure side there is an item of $1,161.56 under the heading of Disbursements, and included in that amount is the contribution voted by your Committee to Earl Haig's Fund, of which mention is made in the report before you.
The Society's income in normal years would appear to be more than sufficient to meet current expenditure, and as there is, I am sure, no desire on the part of members to let funds accumulate unnecessarily it is my intention at a later period of this meeting to submit for consideration a suggestion in regard thereto.

During the year Messrs. G. M.
Shaw, J. L. Crockett and N. S.
Marshall resigned from the Committee on leaving the Colony, and the vacancies were filled by the appointments of the Hon. Mr. A.
G. Stephen, Mr. James Reid and Mr. Robert Sutherland.

It is with regret that I refer to the death, while at Home on leave, of Mr. Robert Henderson, who was for three years Secretary of this Society, and the present seems a fitting opportunity of expressing our sympathy with his relatives in their sad loss.

The "J. R. M. Smith" Scholarship was won this year by Miss Pearl Ogilvie of the Kowloon British School, and she is to be congratulated on achieving that distinction.

Saint Andrew's Day was celebrated by the usual Ball, and in that connection your Committee desire to express their thanks to the conveners and members of the various Sub-Committees, to whose able assistance the success of the evening was entirely due.

A dinner was held in the Hongkong Hotel on 25th January to commemorate the birth of our national bard—Robert Burns, and while the gathering proved most enjoyable the attendance was not up to expectations.

I would like to take this opportunity of urging young Scots resident in the Colony to join the Scottish Company of the Local Defence Corps. The Company, which was only started last year, now consists of 90 members of all ranks, including the Pipe Band of 2 Pipers and 4 Drummers. While this may be considered a fairly satisfactory beginning these numbers should easily be doubled with a little persuasion from the proper quarter, and it will be disappointing if there are not at least 200 members by this time next year. Joining the Corps means very little tax on the time of members, while it affords them an opportunity of meeting Scotsmen, on parade, in camp and on the range, with whom they would not otherwise come in contact.

With these few remarks I beg to propose that the Report and Accounts as presented be adopted, and after they have been seconded
I shall answer to the best of my ability any questions members may care to ask.

Mr. A. R. Austin seconded the resolution, and there being no questions, it was put to the meeting and declared carried unanimously.

Mr. A. O. Lang Elected President.
Amid loud applause Mr. R. M.
Dyer submitted the name of Mr.
A. O. Lang for the position of President for the ensuing year.
"It does not require any words of mine," Mr. Dyer said, "to introduce Mr. Lang to this Society or to commend him to you for the high office to which he has been proposed and I can, with confidence, leave his election in your hands."
(Applause.)

The proposition was seconded by Mr. J. Reid and carried with enthusiastic unanimity.

Mr. Long briefly returned thanks.
"I appreciate thoroughly," he issued the gathering, "your having done me this honour—the highest in my life. I may say, that any Scots man in this Colony can ever confer upon me (applause)—and I can assure you that no effort of mine will be spared in an endeavour to fill the office with credit to myself and honour to this Society (Renewed Applause.)"

On the proposition of the Chairman seconded by Dr. Black, Hon.
Mr. A. G. Stephen was unanimously elected Vice-President.

The Chairman announced that Mr.
Duncan Wallace who fulfilled the position of Hon. Treasurer last year had signified his inability to continue in office and he proposed that Mr. J. W. McPhail be elected to the vacancy.

Mr. Stevenson seconded and the meeting approved.

The Chairman said that as Mr. T.
W. Hill had intimated his willingness of carrying on the duties of Hon. Secretary for another period he proposed he be elected.

Mr. A. K. Henderson seconded the resolution which was passed unanimously.

The Chairman mentioned that the following gentlemen had signified their willingness to serve on the Committee:—Messrs. James Reid,
Robert Sullivan, W. Nicholson, Dr.
Black and Dr. Dalmahey Allan. He should be glad to receive further names.

No further names having been submitted, the Chairman proposed and Mr. Douglas-Wilson seconded and the meeting approved that the gentlemen mentioned should form
the Committee.

Earl Haig's Fund.

The Chairman referring to that part of his opening speech dealing with the inadvisability of allowing the Society's funds to accumulate unnecessarily, proposed that an amount equivalent to £250 be contributed to Earl Haig's Fund for exservicemen. As members were aware financial help was urgently required in that quarter and he trusted therefore that his proposal would be approved.

Mr. Greig seconded.
The motion was carried with applause.

St. Andrew's Ball.

The Chairman said the next item on the agenda was to decide as to the manner in which St. Andrew's day should be celebrated this year and in that connection he desired to propose that the usual Ball be held on September, 30th. He was of opinion, however, that on this occasion the decorations should be of as simple a nature as possible (hear, hear) and that anything savouring of extravagance should be eliminat-

BIG ARMS SEIZURE.

The Sequel At The Magistracy.

A Chinese woman and a young girl were charged at the Magistracy yesterday afternoon with illicit possession of ten Mauser pistols, four automatic pistols, nine revolvers and 4,800 rounds of ammunition in No. 11 Hill Road.

Mr. Leo Longinotto, defending, asked Sub-Inspector Clark if he desired to proceed with the case against the girl who, he said, was the daughter of the second concubine of the other defendant's husband. The woman is the seventh concubine of a former Chinese official named Leung Po Si.

Sub-Inspector Clark said when he raided No. 11 Hill Road he found three Chinese ladies two of whom were defendants. He left one of them to look after the house.

The Magistrate (Mr. Lindell): Do you deny possession by defendants?

Mr. Longinotto: Yes. The Magistrate: I understand this case is almost identical with the one I had before me some time ago in which a big quantity of arms were found in a boarding house.

Mr. Longinotto: I believe there is some connection between them. Sub-Inspector Clark: It is certainly the same.

Sub-Inspector Clark then gave evidence. He said on the afternoon of the 12th inst. he, with a party of Chinese Revenue Officers, visited the ground floor of No. 11 Hill Road, the street door of which was locked. He knocked at the door and the voices of several women asked "Who's there?" Orders to admit them into the house made by witness were ignored and therefore the Chinese Revenue Officers had to break the door. On entering the house he found defendants, another woman and two small servant girls standing outside the back cubicle in an excited state.

First defendant (the woman) asked him the purpose of the raid, and after having been informed, handed to witness a bunch of keys which fitted her own boxes. Her boxes were searched but no contraband was found. He was called by one of the Revenue Officers into the back room in which he saw three locked boxes and one open basket being pulled out from under a bed. The discovery created a deal of surprise to the first defendant, who called out, excitedly, many times that the boxes were owned by a woman who had gone to Canton. The keys of neither of the defendants could open the three boxes. In the basket witness found five Mauser pistols, and two bandoliers loaded with 1,700 rounds of ammunition. The first defendant admitted being the principal tenant of the house and handed to the police the rent receipts for the past twelve months which bore the name of Leung Po Si, her husband. The three boxes were broken open at the Police Station.

When examined by Mr. Longinotto, Sub-Inspector Clark said the reason he arrested the girl was because she was on the premises. He did not suggest that she was responsible for the arms.

Mr. Longinotto, to the Magistrate: May I ask for her discharge?

The girl was discharged. Replying to further questions, Sub-Inspector Clark said he did not enquire who occupied the back cubicle. He had had no time.

Mr. Longinotto then called his client into the witness-box. She said the occupant of the back cubicle was her husband's third concubine, to whom the boxes containing the illicit goods belonged. The third concubine moved into her house on August 22nd, with the boxes and the basket, and left for Canton on the 11th, saying she had received a letter to the effect that her father had died. In the letter she was asked to return to her home in Canton to attend to her father's funeral arrangements. On the 12th inst. she was asleep when the police arrived, and the door was broken down before she could get out to open it. Her husband was formerly an official and was at present in Peking.

Answering the Magistrate, defendant said her husband was formerly an adherent of General Lung Chi Kong, and lost his job since Lung's downfall. She could not say why he went to Peking.

The Magistrate, to defendant: Can you give a reason why the third concubine of your husband should have carried such an armory about her?—No.

In order to show that she was not on intimate terms with the third concubine of her husband, defendant said she charged the third concubine $12 rent a month for providing her accommodation.

The Magistrate asked Sub-Inspector Clark if there were any other articles, besides the Arms in the boxes and the basket. The Sub-Inspector gave a negative reply.

Addressing the Magistrate Mr. Longinotto said the arms were admittedly in the house, but defendant denied knowing anything about them and said they were taken into her house by the third concubine of her husband. How much authority, a seventh concubine had over a third concubine would be taken by her husband, a wealthy Chinese, into his confidence his Worth probably knew better than him (Mr. Longinotto), being more familiar with Chinese cases.

The Magistrate: It is impossible to say.

Mr. Longinotto submitted that the third concubine of Leung Po Si had been instructed by her husband to transport arms for him—there was no question that enormous arms traffic was going on in Hongkong, said Mr. Longinotto. The third concubine was called to Canton by her husband, and unfortunately the police raid took place a few hours after her departure with the result that his client had to bear the brunt. The only evidence against his client was that she was the principal tenant. Two significant points, Mr. Longinotto continued, were that the keys for the three boxes containing the greater part of the arms were not found and that the keys of the defendant did not fit any of them. The Magistrate said these points were certainly in defendant's favour.

Continuing, Mr. Longinotto said these points were the more valuable to his client in view of the fact that the basket was open, a circumstance which dispelled suspicions that the keys for the boxes were hidden.

The Magistrate said he could not see the difference.

Mr. Longinotto rejoined that the difference was that if a person wanted to conceal the keys she would not leave a basket open.

The girl who had been discharged then gave evidence. She claimed to be a daughter of the second concubine of Leung Po Si. She first knew the nature of the contents of the boxes when the police opened them. The boxes belonged to her "third mother," who left for Canton by a night steamer on the 11th. Her father was formerly an official, but he was now a merchant and was staying in Peking.

The Magistrate: Can you suggest any reason why your third mother should have transported arms for your father?

Witness: I don't know. My father had been an official before. I can't say what the arms were intended for.

The statement which was made by defendant to the police in answer to the charge was produced. It stated that the arms belonged to a woman named Wong, a name which corresponded with that of the third concubine mentioned by defendant and her "daughter."

The Magistrate: I reserve my judgment. I should like to consider the point further as to whether or not the evidence justifies a conviction for possession.

Defendant was remanded until Monday.

FIFTY YEARS OF IT.

"He cheats at billiards and cards," said a woman at Kowloon Police Court, London, when asked what her husband's occupation was.

GARRISON TENNIS.

Exciting Final.

The semi-finals and final of the Garrison Doubles Championship were played at Happy Valley yesterday afternoon before a large attendance which included H.E. Lieut-General Sir G. M. Kirkpatrick, K.C.B., K.C.S.I., Lady Kirkpatrick and the Misses Kirkpatrick, Col. Davy, Humphry, Wyndham Green, Nicholson and Sanders, Majors Hickling, Edwards, Tomlinson and Humphreys, Capt. Olliver, Tomory and Fisher, A.D.C., Rev. Shewell, C.F. and many other officers of the Garrison.

Mr. H. Nesbit, President of the Hongkong Tennis Association, performed the duties of umpire and scorer.

The band of the Wiltshire Regiment, under Bandmaster Eaton, enlivened the proceedings by playing selections at intervals.

The semi-finals resulted as follows:—

C. S. M. Pearson and Cpl. Townsend, R.E. beat S. S. M. Stroud and Dr. Lansley R.A.S.C. 6-3, 6-1.

Q.M.S. Foster and S. Sgt. Haynes, R.A.O.C. beat Sgt. Holway and Gr. Harwood R.G.A. 6-1, 6-1.

Following the semi-finals an interval was taken for tea.

The Final.

Townsend opened the play and by good service registered the first game for the R.E., the R.A.O.C. winning the next, one all.

The R.E. took the third game, but the R.A.O.C. brought the scores two all in the next.

The R.E. pair playing with understanding took the next four games and won the set 6-2.

Townsend again opened with the service but ended up with a double fault, the game going to the R.A.O.C.

The next game saw Foster send the ball over the base line on two occasions after the game was 30 all and the R.E. pair took the game, one all.

The next two games were love games in favour of the R.E. pair who also took the fifth game, 4-1.

Haynes serving a double fault with the score 15-40 in the next, made the games 5-1 in favour of the R.E.

Pearson's service in the next gave the R.E. the set, 6-1.

Foster commenced the third and last set and scored a love game. Haynes by good play put the R.A.O.C. two games up. The R.E. pair then rallied and the score was called two games all, after deuce had been called four times, Pearson serving 2 double faults. R.A.O.C. again took the lead at the fifth but the R.E. pair stuck to them and levelled matters at the sixth. The R.A.O.C. pair took the next two games and the score was 5-3 in their favour.

Foster serving scored two aces in what was thought the set game but the R.E. pair came again and the game went to deuce. Ten deuces were called before the game finally went to the R.E. pair, 5-4.

The R.A.O.C. pair failed on several occasions to take advantage of an easy stroke to win the set. The R.E. took the next and the game was called, 5 all.

The R.A.O.C. took the lead at the eleventh game but failing to hold the R.E. pair the latter won the next 3 games and won the set, 8-6.

Townsend played with great confidence and was well backed up by Pearson. Haynes played a good game and at times Foster was brilliant; he, however, poached on several occasions thereby losing good positions.

The players were loudly applauded at the close of the tournament.

His Excellency the G.O.C. addressed the company and congratulated the winners and runners-up on the standard of play put up by them. Referring to the Garrison Tennis League, he pointed out that the Royal Engineers had won the league each year since it was inaugurated in 1919, and thought that it was time that some other unit seriously challenged the R.E.

The R.A.O.C. were worthy runners up, losing to the champions only.

The Garrison Doubles Championship was promoted with a view to increasing the standard of play among "other ranks" in the Garrison, and the match witnessed that afternoon proved that there were men in the Garrison who were good enough to enter the open tournaments in the Colony.

The Garrison had to thank Major Hickling for the hard work that he had done in connection with the Doubles Championship and he had been ably assisted by Col. Humphry, President of the Garrison Recreation Committee.

Lady Kirkpatrick then presented the Challenge Cup to C.S.M. Pearson and Cpl. Townsend R.E. congratulating them on their play.

Small cups were also presented to the winners and to H.M.S. Foster and S. Sgt. Haynes the runners-up.

Her ladyship then presented the Cups to the R.E. team, winners of the Garrison League and spoons to the R.A.O.C. team as runners-up.

It is worthy of note that Major Edwards and Cpl. Townsend have figured in the winning team for the past three seasons.

Col. Humphry then called for three hearty cheers for Lady Kirkpatrick which were lustily given.

The bathing beaches at Kennedy Town and Stonecutters Island will be closed on the evening of October 15th.

GERMAN SHIPBUILDING.

A Critical Period.

The frequent reports that are published in the Press of the launching of new German steamers and of the numerous orders for new tonnage given out by the leading German steamship companies would seem to indicate that the German shipbuilding industry is in an active and even flourishing condition. This may be true for the moment, but how long will it last? asks the Liverpool Journal of Commerce. There are other factors at work from which it is permissible to deduce that the industry is approaching, if it has not already entered upon, a critical period, and not the least important of these is indicated by a recent report that several of the large shipbuilding institutions have already, or will shortly dismiss numbers of their workmen and put the remainder on short time. The arrangements, which have been made under the so-called "Reederei-Abfindungsvertrag," the compromise agreement between the Government and the shipping companies for the replacement of tonnage lost during the war, is apparently not giving complete satisfaction, and the hopes which were built upon it as a means of reviving the shipbuilding industry seem likely to be disappointed.

This subject is dealt with by a writer in the Danzig Schiffahrt Zeitung, who remarks that during the current year there has been from month to month a steady increase in activity at all the principal German shipbuilding centres. The Deutsche Werft, which, he observes, seems destined to become one of the largest shipbuilding undertakings in the world, recently added 1,500 men to its pay-roll at its Finkenwerder establishment. "It is, therefore, all the more astonishing," he continues, "that not only has the Weser Aktiengesellschaft dismissed or given notice of dismissal to 900 of its workmen, but also that the Deutsche Werft is arranging to reduce the staff at its Tollerort works, which was formerly an independent concern under the name of the Hamburger Werft. The company, indeed, recently announced that the complete closing of the Tollerort establishment might be necessary."

Should these reports, which are naturally being used by the Communists for their own propaganda purposes, be confirmed, then at least 1,700 workmen and between 60 and 70 staff employees would be thrown out of work. In Hamburg labour (shipbuilding) circles it is declared that at the Blohm and Voss yard, and the Hamburg-branch of the Vulkan Werke, a further 4,000 to 5,000 dismissals are contemplated. These wholesale dismissals appear to be confirmed by the statements coming from shipbuilding circles, which show that there is a prospect of many of the shipyards being placed on short time, while others will be obliged, at least temporarily, to shut down altogether.

Some portion of responsibility for this situation is, as already mentioned, laid at the door of the compensation agreement. "The distribution of the money granted by the Reich is spread in determined amounts over the years 1921 to 1925. For the budget year 1921 (April 1, 1921, to March 31, 1922) the amount at the disposal of the shipping companies for the building of ships at German yards is 2,500,000,000 marks. In the first three months of the budget year from 60 to 100 per cent. of the total sum has already been spent. The shipyards, therefore, must now make provision for such a limitation of production as will enable them, with the help of the remaining balance, to make ends meet until the end of the budget year. Such limitation makes wholesale dismissals necessary."

The shipyard managers frankly admit that these discharges of workmen not only constitute a hardship for those who are affected, but also, owing to their suddenness and extensiveness, conceal a general danger. They also point to the extravagant economic consequences of these enforced measures. Work must be stopped on vessels which were approaching completion, and which would in a few weeks have been a valuable means of earning money. The shipyards are also anxious to accept foreign orders, but this is made absolutely impossible because the ships under construction will, owing to the financial programme, encumber the building slips for years, and render any extension of activity out of the question.

The writer admits that the former rate of activity in shipbuilding cannot, and even the workmen themselves desire the work to be extended over as long a time as possible by limiting the hours of labour. But so far as dismissals are concerned, it would be better, he says, not to make them wholesale, but gradual so as to cause as little disturbance as possible in the labour market. What the shipbuilders themselves suggest is that the money available for the last years of the "Reederei-Abfindungsvertrag" should be drawn upon in advance. "This would not impose any extra burden upon the Reich, as the total amount of 12,000,000,000 marks allocated for reconstruction would not be exceeded." In conclusion, he states that unless some measures adopted for preventing wholesale discharges from the shipyards, the consequence can only be serious labour troubles in the shipbuilding industry, "similar to the labour movement in England," which will be detrimental to the whole country.

HONGKONG, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1921.

THE MACAO AFFAIR.

One cannot help thinking that there has been something of a needless tension of feeling between the authorities at Macao and the Chinese of Canton during the past week. The affair which took place at Macao earlier was a serious one; let us not try to minimise that. Both sides, allege that the other was in fault and it would be hard for us to judge of the rights of the case. But the point that stands out clearly above everything else is that it is high time the contentious question of the Portuguese-Chinese water boundary was settled once and for all. It has given rise to trouble before and will inevitably give rise to trouble again unless out of this present affair comes a genuine desire on both sides to settle their old dispute.

The Treaty of 1887, under which the complete sovereignty of Portugal over Macao was fully recognised by China, did not specifically lay down the water boundary. The inner harbour of Macao is bounded on one side by the Chinese island of Lappa. The Portuguese claim that they have a right to the control of the whole of the water within the inner harbour, whilst the Chinese claim that the water around Lappa comes under their control. That is the basis of the dispute. These are Chinese customs on Lappa and when junks anchor near Lappa the Chinese claim that the duties should be collected by them. The Portuguese authorities claim that when any junk enters the inner harbour its dues and customs duties should be paid to the Macao customs authorities. That, briefly, is the cause of the friction. Just how firing was commenced early this week and how the events developed until the Portuguese authorities sent an ultimatum to the Chinese gunboat to leave its anchorage on the harbour side of Lappa Island has already been told in our news columns. Acting under other advice the Chinese boat did leave and so actual conflict was avoided. But the Chinese are not content to leave the matter there and many local Chinese feel that advice might have been given to the Macao authorities to withdraw its ultimatum. They claim that a line drawn through the middle of the inner harbour should be the real water boundary, stating that if that were accepted a Mixed Court could be established to adjudicate upon the claims of the respective revenue officers. Many local residents will possibly remember that some time before the Chinese revolution of 1911 both sides tried to reach a settlement of this question. A Peking official named Ko Erh-kin came down to Hongkong and was met by an official from Macao named Macnado and they here discussed the boundary question. As the Portuguese claim for jurisdiction over the whole of the inner harbour was maintained without any modification the conference ended without result. And the matter has been a bone of contention ever since.

Isn't it time the question was settled? Macao is undertaking big harbour works and contemplates the spending of many millions of dollars, but those harbour works will scarcely be of much use unless there is friendly co-operation between the Portuguese and Chinese in the matter of the proposed railway to Canton. Cargoes have to come and go from somewhere and that somewhere must obviously be the adjoining mainland. Friction and dispute will scarcely assist the development of Macao. The Chinese, too, have everything to gain and little to lose by a settlement. Failing an agreement among themselves we suggest that some impartial tribunal should be set up to arbitrate on the matter, both parties promising to abide by the award. Failing some such way out of the present impasse there will be nothing but antagonism where, in the proper order of things, there should be friendly co-operation for mutual benefit.

NOTES & COMMENTS.

St. Andrew's

Everything considered, the annual meeting of the Colony's St. Andrew's Society, held last evening, was a satisfactory function. It is true that the accounts show a deficiency of $1,161, but as this includes a donation of £250 to Earl Haig's Fund it will be seen that there is no debit in the ordinary sense. This result was reached, too, in a year when a large number of members were on leave. As the report observes, the Society's income in normal years would appear to be more than sufficient to meet current expenditure, and there is no desire on the part of members to let funds accumulate unnecessarily. The donation to the Fund inaugurated by the Field Marshal met with unanimous approval on the part of the meeting, as it will do among the Colony at large. There was a "grouse" in reference to the old and vexed question of the crowded state of the Ball-room on "the night," which the chairman and new President, Mr. A. O. Lang, happily disposed of by intimating his confidence that the new Committee would attend to the suggestion in regard to increasing the refreshment bar accommodation, in order to "take the strain off the dancing-hall". St. Andrew's night is such a popular feature of the Colony's social life that everybody wants to be present, and unfortunately the mural boundaries cannot be distended like the ends of a concertina, so it looks like a case for making the best of things. A noteworthy incident was an appeal by the Chairman for more recruits for the Scottish Company of the local defence corps, which at present numbers but ninety, including the band. Considering that the company was only started last year, this is not bad, but, as the Chairman remarked, this number should easily be doubled, bearing in mind Scotland's strength in the Colony.

The Mayor's Deputation.

The cable concerning the visit of the London Mayors to the Premier in regard to measures for relieving unemployment brings to notice again the gravity of this problem. That the deputation should have travelled specially to Gaithersburg is an indication of the sense of urgency experienced by the Mayors. Were they mostly socialists, it might have been concluded that this step had been adopted as a dramatic device for attracting attention to the question. The average mayor of a London borough, however, belongs to a solid, even stolid, type, hitherto, indeed, not noted for an explanation of the anxiety; the figures are too formidable to allow of difference of opinion respecting the wide extent of unemployment. A few days ago it was reported that the statistics showed a diminution, but, remembering that the out-of-work totalled a lot over two millions, the number to find employment represents only a fraction of the workers involved. Predictions are already being heard in the Old Country of another hard winter. In the 1920-21 season the problem was surmounted better than might have been expected considering its magnitude, and the Cabinet appointed an unemployment committee some weeks ago to investigate further. The Premier pointed out to the deputation that it was impossible for the Government to shoulder the whole of the responsibility, and if weekly grants of over seventy shillings as recorded of the Islington district are to be legalised it is difficult to see how the Government is to bring the Budget down wholesale as has been demanded. Only a little while ago financial considerations compelled a reduction of unemployment insurance pay. At such a time as this it surely behoves the workers to take note of events like that reported the other day from Swansea, where a contract that would have provided work for two years was lost through a labour dispute. The Premier foreshadowed legislation "ensuring co-operation between the Government, local authorities, manufacturers, traders, bankers, and organised labour," and it will be of particular interest to see the outcome of the efforts of these various bodies, which certainly make up a comprehensive collection.

Fidelity to the Empire.

Appropos our editorial reference yesterday to conditions in Germany, there is a piquancy in the words which Count Lerchenfeld, the new Bavarian Premier, addressed to the Diet when he said that he stood

DAY BY DAY.

AFTER ALL, SHOULD A GREAT STATESMAN HAVE ANY FEELING? IS HE NOT A COMPLETELY SOCIETIC PERSONAGE, STANDING ALWAYS ALONE ON HIS OWN SIDE, WITH THE WORLD ON THE OTHER?—Napoleon.

There was one one fatal case of paratyphoid fever reported yesterday. This was the only case of disease notified.

It is notified in the Government Gazette that the regulation recently made in connection with the removal of dogs from certain districts of Colony to other districts, has been repealed.

Lieut. Q.D. Graham, has been appointed to the light cruiser Cairo, China Squadron. Lieut. Graham was lately serving on the Vernon, torpedo school ship at Portsmouth, as a torpedo lieutenant.

Commissioned Boatwain J. T. Williams has been appointed to Hongkong Dockyard, with effect from Oct. 14. Mr. Williams got his commission in January, 1915, and was recently doing duty at the Devonport Dockyard. He saw much service in the late war.

This week's programme at the Hongkong Theatre being the popular Max Linder on the screen in a comedy of two acts entitled "Max Comes Cross" followed by a beautiful war drama "when Arizona Won," in which Story Hamilton takes the leading role. The programme concludes with scenery from the Screen Magazine. At to-day's matinee will be shown Vivian Martin in "Molly Entangled," and at to-day's matinee new pictures will be screened.

Saiwanbao village was excited yesterday by a chase after a thief who during an early hour entered a house on the hillside and helped himself to a quantity of clothing. It was a Chinese neighbour who gave the alarm, with the result that after a hot pursuit, during which he was forced to relinquish hold of the clothing, the thief was caught. Evidence was this morning heard at the Police Court against the prisoner and sentence of three months' hard labour was passed by the Magistrate, Mr. G.N. Orme.

In "Lifting Shadows" screened as the main feature at the World Theatre for the week-end, Emmy Wehlen in the character of Vania Ostrowski, over whom the shadow of a past life hangs like the sword of Damocles, has a difficult role to portray. The daughter of a Russian anarchist, she escapes to America after the death of her father and becomes the wife of an artist whose eventual death causes an accusation of murder to be brought against her. The heavy dramatic work imposed upon Emmy Wehlen was justified by the capable handling of her role. She is well-supported by a strong cast. A film of this class should act as its own recommendation, and the management of the World Theatre is to be complimented on securing it.

RAISING REPARATION FUNDS.

A Berlin message says the new taxation to meet reparations includes a tax on sugar of from 14 to 100 marks per hundred kilograms; spirits, 800 to 4,000 marks per hectolitre. The taxes on beer and lighting have been quadrupled, and on matches and mineral waters the duty has been doubled. The duties on bananas, dates, tea, coffee, cocoa, spices, and other luxuries have been increased. The new taxes also include motor cars, insurance business, and company profits. A levy will also be made on capital, which will be called upon in the national emergency, to make a sacrifice.

for "fidelity to the Empire." Taken literally, this would confer all that has been surmised as to Bavaria's Imperialistic designs. By "Empire," however, the Bavarian Premier means, ostensibly at any rate, the Republic, which from its foundation has been distinguished by the anomaly of calling itself an Empire. Another anomalous circumstance is the retention of titles in the Republic, as in the case of the Bavarian Premier. Time will show in which sense Count Lerchenfeld's "fidelity to the Empire" is really intended.

PASSIM PAPERS.

Rambling Thoughts on Current Affairs.

We live in stirring times, my friends. No longer is Hongkong the humdrum place of a few years ago when the newspapers disdained to recognise the existence of each other. In those days, I rather fancy, the bare task of maintaining an existence (or, if you prefer it so, the task of maintaining a bare existence) taxed their energies to the utmost. They had neither time nor will to put that spice into the daily bun which lends a briskness. Today, however, the papers tilt at each other in the most lively fashion. This week, for instance, the Telegraph man, with a bludgeon, aided (perhaps) by a correspondent with a claymore, had at the China Mail man whose weapon is the rapier. Pretty work it has been, but I begin to believe that they are by now fighting in order to determine what they are fighting about. (That sounds curiously, but it is all right.) One of the two principals once said or tried to say or should have said or should not have said something on Irish question and from that have the riseneariwi, the meaning of words, the meaning or non-meaning of phrases, logic and scissars and a Japanese proverb and—and I don't know all what. One is reminded of the couplet in the "Bab Ballads" which pokes fun at Martin Tupper:

"A fool is bent upon a twig but wise men dread a bandit."

Which I knew was very clever, but I didn't understand it.

And some of the words used sent me amongst my cuttings in order to find one of the most precious—a criticism of, if memory serves, George Eliot:

"Hers was an apocalyptic gift of psychological fiction, free from the fetters of convention, deaf to the resonant rotundity of rule, ignoring the clamant importunity of whatever is banal, and depicting with curious felicity all that is bizarre and recherche in human personality."

Which means that she possessed insight into character, was original in her methods and had a happy knack of describing odd people. Neither the Telegraph nor Mail man has reached quite such heights of preciosity as that, but they are doing very nicely.

Pity the Poor Poets.

Even inoffending poets, who died quite a few years ago, have been dragged into this wordy, but entertaining, newspaper war. Someone called Burns "Bobby" and a violent Scot got after him at once. Poor Robert Burns: he is as worse than that to suffer from his own countrymen—but, thank God, not from all. In my younger days I belonged to the I.O.G.T. (a folly which I have long since lived down) but the I.O.G.T. knew me no more after a "social" whereas a watery-veined person made Burns a tag for his teetotal address and was blantly told by your servant that he was seven kinds of a renegade and the rest, where he wasn't fool. But that is away from the subject, whatever it is. I am told that there is no truth in the rumour that Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. de Valera are to contribute to the Telegraph and the Mail respectively next week though it is believed probable that both local writers will receive honours (some day) for so materially advancing the Irish question towards a satisfactory settlement.

Braid Scots.

Mention of Burns reminds one that an interesting little article in a morning contemporary on Wednesday referred to the decay of the old Somerset dialect. According to Mr. Walter Raymond the dialect has been undetermined by the school. This should interest Scotsmen who are proud of the fact that "Braid Scots" is not dying, despite years of insistence on the part of "My Lords" that young people in school shall speak correct English. They do so, being still encouraged there to (I suppose) as I once was by the sight of a three-tongued animator which, in capable hands, stung nastily. Yet, taxes or no taxes, young Scots when they leave school treat the English language very cavalierly indeed and I make bold to say that the old cry, "herrin', fresh herrin', three bawbees a pun" is still heard in the streets of Glasgow. "Three halfpence" and "pound" may be all very well for the schoolroom but not for ordinary use—too "fancy" and "la-di-da" altogether! I know one Scotsman in Hongkong who writes as good English as here or there, but hear him in Scots company. The "s" rattles like musketry and he uses words that are known only to Scotsmen. Dominies thrashed English into him but they could not (God be praised, says he) thrash out Scots. Burns' ensured, for good and all, that "Braid Scots" shall live. Now, I wonder how many wild Scots will contradict me when I say that the dialect in which Burns wrote was not the then current speech either of Ayrshire or of any other part of Scotland. Why, Henry Mackenzie ("The Man of Feeling") in reviewing the Edinburgh edition had to apologise to literary Edinburgh because the poems were in a dialect not too well understood! No such apology would be required if a second Burns appeared in Scotland today, because Burns for all time made "Braid Scots" a living thing. Yet it is a well-established fact that he went farther back than his own time to find part of the dialect in which he expressed himself. It was an instrument deliberately chosen, but no man could have handled it to more magnificent purpose.

The Bright Side. So numerous and depressing are the grumblers at present that it was good the other day to meet one business man who was cheerful almost to the verge of chirpiness. Doing well, things were quite all right so far, and they would buck up shortly. No need to cry out; couldn't expect a good time always. So, in staccato fashion, he unfolded a cheerful tale of business that was none so ill. Perhaps he is one of those who never will admit ill-fortune and one likes him all the better for that. He seeks the bright side of things even as the Scots clergyman brought the dying Scots king to seek it. "You are," said he, "about to exchange an earthly crown for a heavenly one which is far better." But I doubt whether the dying king quite saw the exchange in that light; perhaps he was dubious as to whether the new crown would fit.

A Missed "Stunt." Where were our local journalists, trained that they failed to see a "story" in the Waichow hen? Thus baldly it comes from the Canton correspondent of the South China Morning Post: "News received from Waichow states that a certain villager had a hen which, on the 8th inst., laid an egg of vermilion red colour through out. On the 9th inst., the hen laid another egg which was wholly of yellow colour, on the 10th she laid a blue egg, on the 11th a white egg and on the 12th a black egg, making a total of five eggs in five days of red, yellow, blue, white and black colour—the colour of the Chinese National Flags. Afterwards the eggs were broken and inside, the colours were the same as the shells."

And the Post's young men failed to "splash" it! If that had come the way of one of Lord Northcliffe's live youths the wires would instantly have been set humming: "Secure full details here's aged pedigree how fed photograph act laying." Much poorer yarns than this have kept the "Daily Mail" going for days in the dead season. Our young men here are too slow. If I had had the handling of that story I should have splashed it and should have added that this patriotic hen was daily in future to have a dish of stewed paddy worms. It's the topical touch that tells.

RAMBLER.

Between Ourselves

By Robt. MacWhirter.

Come to think of it, maybe the most powerful instinct we retain, despite the lowering effects of civilization, is that of self-preservation. In the case of the individual, this is so without question. Take our own unworthy lives, for instance. Though each and all of us know perfectly well there'll come a day when we'll take pride of place inside a box—in a procession to some Happy Valley, yet mentally we eye fight against the mere idea. The man that wishes he were dead is either a liar in a very bad way or doing a mental carpenter and a few odd warden out of a job. Ay, no matter how much we realise that our demise is only a matter of time, despite all vain thoughts of halos and a place in the angelic choir, we'd far rather keep on where we are. And were we not even content with that. While we're here, scrambling and pliterting like a lot of excited cockroaches, it's every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost. With a majority of us, it's a case of what's mine's my ain and what's your's is mine.

As with the individual, so it naturally is with the nation. Robt. the Irish question of all it's highfalutin diplomatic phrases about one thing or another, and it boils down to a matter of self-preservation, one against the other. We can fool ourselves to the top of our bent and clack about making the world safe for democracy a d such like, but it's a case of diamond cut diamond, my country right or wrong and one for you and two for me right through the chapter. The desire to keep living then and self-preservation come to the same thing. Come to think of it, every form of life gradually develops some kind of defence. Dogs bite, cats claw, and so on. Not very deep or scientific I'll admit, but you know what I mean.

I believe if it were possible for science to evolve a new kind of animal or plant without any means of protecting itself, it wouldn't belong before it developed a weapon of defence. I suppose at one time the hide of the rhinoceros was as thin as yours and mine. Through various causes it developed something in the way of armour. Now the mosquitoes go elsewhere. Our hides also thicken in a figurative sense in ratio to the number of times we get stung. Small fish, for instance, have very sharp dorsal fins. That makes it difficult for bigger fish to swallow them. Fishermen have also been known to get pricked in their anxiety to extract the barb. Birds and beasts change their colouring in season, as a method of self-protection and so on. I'd like to have given you a whole chapter of the like but ever since MacPherson sold his Encyclopaedia Britannica I've been at a disadvantage, Pears' Annual no' being strong, so to speak, on the natural history side. But ye catch my point, I think.

Now after reading history, either natural or human, and thinking at the same time, it's as plain as the nose on your face that every form of life depends very largely on some means of defence. It would seem then that the evolution of armies and navies is a natural process in human life. But isn't this a fallacy when we consider, for a moment, that all man's natural enemies are now under control? And by that I mean the brute creation. Granted that point, then man's only remaining enemy is himself and the more so when he is armed. With the lower creation we don't find members of the same species fighting and scrapping, and taking sides. Apparently that is only confined to the highest species of all—man—him having the brains. Come to think of it, we'd maybe better off with only instinct to guide us after all.

Ay, no doubt about it, war between nations is about on a par with a horse getting drunk on gin—or should be I should say. I don't know whether ye quite grasp what I'm trying to get at for to tell the truth I'm kinda muzzy about it myself, but boiled down it amounts to this: Man having conquered his natural enemies has become an enemy to himself. I'll admit that even now it doesn't look any clearer. That's the worst of tackling they highfalutin abstract subjects.

But there's one thing that sticks out of it all like a wart on your chin and that is disarmament should be a consequence interest us all very keenly. For one thing our tax-s would be lower if the world laid down its arms. Look at the roads we could make, and houses we could build and the lives of bairns we could save in ten years if we could only get rid of our Military Contribution, for instance. What value do we get for that bug, yearly sum now, aside from—well I don't want to be personal. They say the military is here for our protection. Protection from what? Mostly our own silly fears, I should say offhand. Disarmament by one country, I'll admit, would be dangerous but let them all disarm and pay trade union dues to the League of Nations instead and see which happens. We would then relatively be better protected than if all were well-armed.

It seems to me that the trouble is just to determine at what point our natural weapons of self-preservation become weapons of offence. But again, now suppose—ach, but that's enough for today.

The Gymkhana.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

A Glance at our Files.

(Sept. 26-Oct. 1, 1896.)

Mr. Gladstone again called the Sultan of Turkey a great assassin and the Dervishes were retreating on Omdurman. A discovery of gold was made in Newfoundland, the Matabeles had been routed and the Tsar and Lord Salisbury had a long chat together. So much for Reuter of twenty-five years ago.

The Institute of Shipbuilders and Engineers had a successful "Smoker" and the pleasant proceedings were brought to close at a very late hour. Mr. W. Rumsey was in the chair. It appears that one or two of the "jolly good fellows" were, however, a little annoyed because the company remained seated while the musical honours were being showered upon the vocalists. But some people are never pleased, and possibly some were so awfully jolly that they really didn't know whether they were standing or sitting.

Some fuss seems to have been made about a brick culvert that two men of the Royal Engineers had spent two or three weeks building near the Barracks of the Hongkong Regiment. After they had got the job nicely finished along came the P. W. D. and had it broken up to permit the foundation stone of a retaining wall to be laid. The Telegraph of that day asks the very pertinent question whether the two R. E. men built the culvert for amusement and at their own expense and if the answer was in the negative who was responsible for this waste of public money. That was the stuff to hand out, but one trembles for the sanity of that same Editor were he in the Colony to day. Culverts forsooth, with votes extraordinary for the more asking!!

The Town Idiot is again to the fore and curiously enough his name is again coupled with that of the Sanitary Board. But in this instance we will allow the Telegraph to speak for itself—

"The dark rings around the Town Idiot's eyes, the drooping head, the seamy look and the incessant click click of his thinking machinery have all disappeared. In an inspired moment he has solved a problem that has completely baffled the understanding of our City Fathers from generation to generation, and the result is an Ordinance, which the Governor in the plenitude of his mercy will no doubt run through the Council by virtue of the vote of the Official Phalanx it can't be done in any other and more constitutional way. Here is the draft Ordinance just as it appeared to our vision when we took our seat on the editorial wool-sack at 9 o'clock this morning.

ORDINANCE NO.—OF 1896.

Be it known to the present and all future generations for ever and ever that this Ordinance is drawn up for the purpose of solving the difficult problems involved in the imposition of a heavy military tax (literally a mulct) and an increase in the salaries of officials despite the protests of the people's representatives and an utter disregard for the fact that circumstances alter cases—

Whereas the city of Victoria in fact the whole colony of Hongkong is completely over-run with the hungry employees of the Government (policemen, tax-collectors, bailiffs, drains-menders and train-muddlers, P. W. D. foremen, soldiers, sailors, grocers, doctors, street-sweepers, scavengers, detectives, etc., etc.) and,

Whereas, the majority of these Government employees pay no taxes (not even a moderate poll-tax) and,

Whereas, they are often a worse nuisance on the sidewalks, on the public thoroughfares, and in private houses than the bicycle fiend or the man who comes into your office when you are busy and want to get through a big budget of mail matter, or are up to your neck in exchanges, leader-writing and such-like trifling matters; and,

Whereas, the number of such persons is constantly increasing, and,

Whereas, there is great need of a much larger revenue to meet the demands of the Imperial authorities, to pay increased salaries to the officials and to meet the great and ever-increasing expenses incurred by the Sanitary Board's employees, unlawful acts.

Be it ordained by the Legislative Council of this Colony that—

It shall be unlawful for any man, woman or child to discuss the affairs of the Sanitary Board or to denounce the Military Mulct without having secured a licence granting them liberty of thought, and absolute right to think and act for themselves.

The scale of charges for such licences shall be as follows:—

For bald-headed men with long whiskers, $2.00 a month;

For men with long hair and women with short hair, $3.00 per month;

For men who gesticulate and have become prematurely gray, $2.00 per month;

For women who talk in a commanding manner, gesticulating violently when arguing with their husbands, and who go into hysterics once a week, $4.00 a month;

For women who talk in a shrill voice with a slightly affected lisp, $3.50 a month;

For all adults, male or female, who cannot prove that they pay annually for a seat in some house of assembly, $1.50 a month;

For all old gentlemen who ought to know better but don't and therefore ride bicycles at a furious pace, $1.50 a month;

All persons evading payment of the above fees shall on being brought before a magistrate be fined five times the amount of the sum they have failed to pay at due date.

For the second offence the fine shall be doubled.

If the same person is haled before the magistrate more than three times he shall, on conviction, be deemed guilty of mutiny and be sentenced to serve the ratapayers for at least one year by attending, with the Town Idiot, and reporting to the Hongkong Telegraph the proceedings at the fortnightly meetings of the remnant of what at one time was a legally constituted Sanitary Board.

Yes, these were the days.

SERIOUS CASES.

Suicides and Injuries.

Quite a number of serious cases have been brought to the notice of the police.

Shortly after 8 a.m. this morning the police received a report that a man had committed suicide by jumping from the roof of a house at Bonham Strand. The dead body of the man, who is described as an interpreter by profession, was picked up from the street, the man having fallen from the roof of a three-storeyed building. Death must have been instantaneous. The body is now lying at the Mortuary awaiting formal identification.

Detained in a cell on a charge of picking the pocket of a compatriot at West Point, a middle-aged Chinese committed suicide yesterday at the Central Police Station by hanging himself from the wire guard of an electric bulb with a strip of cloth torn from his trousers. The body was cut down and taken to the mortuary.

A Chinese was discovered yesterday at his house, No. 2 New Street, with his throat cut open, and a blood-stained chopper near at hand. Whether it was an attempt to commit suicide or that he was the victim of an assault remains to be determined. The condition of the man as he now lies at the Government Civil Hospital is precarious. The steward of the Kowloon was yesterday removed to the Government Civil Hospital in a serious condition, arising from the infliction of a wound in the head caused by a man who has since absconded.

ON THE WATERFRONT.

Interport Swimmers Arrive On Kishima.

Five members of the Shanghai interport swimming representative team arrived at Hongkong this morning on the N.Y.K. steamer Kishima Maru from the North. They are—Messrs. E. A. Brodie, J. B. Brown, R. W. McCabe, L. Goldman and A. P. Goldman. The four remaining swimmers who will complete Shanghai's team against the Hongkong team will reach here on the steamer Tungshing on Monday.

A short passenger-list was brought in by the Kishima Maru on the present voyage from Seattle. There were 64 passengers listed for this port of whom 34 were first-class, 15 second-class, and 13 steerage. The cargo was a larger one than for a trip or two, the manifest showing 1,252 tons. A shipment of 15,000 bags of flour from Seattle was the main item in the cargo and there was a small lumber consignment.

The Kishima Maru will go into drydock at Kowloon tomorrow for cleaning. She will omit Manila from her itinerary this voyage.

Returns To Port.

Bunker coal of a poor quality forced the steamer Chipping back to port last night. The vessel cleared the harbour in the afternoon bound for Tientsin, but the fuel possessing no heat the ship returned to port and anchored about 8 p.m. The bad coal, which is only a small amount, has been taken out of

COMMERCIAL NEWS.

COAL.

The price of coal remains firm in Wakamatsu, Moji, and other eastern ports. Collieries, especially in the Chikuhō district, make believe to be reluctant to sell as the season for winter demand draws near, and particularly because many cotton mills electric light companies, gas companies, etc., have to renew contracts for the supply of coal soon. It is even said that the selfish mine-owners do not comply with any long term contract, say, for three months or longer, except at a fancy price. So consumers are getting anxious as their holdings fall off. In these circumstances, Manchurian coal is the subject of inquiries. During the past few months, nearly 100,000 tons have already been imported while stocks in Dairen and other Manchurian gathering and distributing centres have declined strikingly. If things develop as at present the importation of Kaitung and other coal will certainly be expedited.

SHIPPING NEWS.

GERMAN SHIPBUILDING.

The German Official Gazette publishes a table showing that 51 steamers were launched in German yards since January last year. All except four were launched for German firms. The average tonnage was 6,600.

INTERNATIONAL MERCANTILE MARINE CO.

The International Mercantile Marine has submitted to the Shipping Board a supplementary agreement with the British Government, whereby vessels operated by the corporation under the American flag shall be deemed not affected by the original agreement with Great Britain.

JAPANESE FIRM PURCHASES BRITISH STEAMERS.

The Yamamoto Trading Company, a Japanese firm in Osaka, has purchased two steamers from Geyer, Irvine and Company of London. One of these, the s.s. "Clan Macfadyen," 4,300 tons deadweight, is now in Kobe, having reached Japan from England a few days ago. It was built in 1899 and the sale price is given as £16,500. The other steamer will reach Japan from England in the course of a few weeks. This is believed to be the first occasion in which a Japanese company has bought a foreign steamer since the war. Messrs. Dodwell and Company are agents for the British firm.

SHANGHAI FREIGHT MARKET.

Mr. W. E. Frazer, second officer of the Persian Prince, who was prosecuted in connection with the death of a Japanese on the vessel in November last, and whose appeal against a sentence of two years is pending in the Tokyo Appeal Court, has, says the Japan Gazette, been missing from Yokohama since July 18. Mr. Frazer had been staying at the Cherry Mount Hotel since he was released on ¥2,000 bail early in January. The second hearing of the case in the Tokyo Court was fixed for October.

CHARGE AGAINST BRITISH OFFICER.

Mr. W. E. Frazer, second officer of the Persian Prince, who was prosecuted in connection with the death of a Japanese on the vessel in November last, and whose appeal against a sentence of two years is pending in the Tokyo Appeal Court, has, says the Japan Gazette, been missing from Yokohama since July 18. Mr. Frazer had been staying at the Cherry Mount Hotel since he was released on ¥2,000 bail early in January. The second hearing of the case in the Tokyo Court was fixed for October.

BRITISH INTERESTS IN RUSSIAN-BALTIC YARD

Negotiations have been proceeding for the sale of the Russian-Baltic shipyard, at Revel, to an English financial group, and it has been declared that the transaction has been successfully carried through. According to the Schiffahrt Zeitung, the actual position of the matter seems to be as follows:—The completion of the negotiations was delayed by the attitude of the Estonian Government, which desired to impose certain conditions for the participation of English capital. Its object was to preserve to some extent the Estonian character of the undertaking, and to ensure for itself a certain influence in the concern. Now the Estonian authorities have agreed that the Russian-Baltic yard shall be leased to the Anglo-Baltic Shipbuilding and Engineering works, which is already operating the Bocker-Werft, at Libau. The English company has consented to the following conditions:—It places at the disposal of the shipyard a capital of 100,000,000 Estonian marks, and will found at Revel a daughter company, which is entitled to represent the parent company in all legal affairs, and to decide independently in all matters affecting its relations with the Government and all its business in Estonia. In this daughter company there must be at least one director of Estonian nationality. Thus the yard will be worked by English capital and by English engineers, but under certain amount of Estonian control. Estonian journals state that the yard will soon take on the building of merchant ships for Russia.
